

Module 4: A Children's Rights-Lens to Youth Human Rights Advocacy

Monday, December 2 at 7 pm ET

SUMMARY

Under the Convention on the Rights of the Child (CRC), youth “have the right to freedom of expression” (Article 13). This module will analyze youth-led advocacy initiatives by evaluating and contextualizing the human rights that youth advocates have. Participants will develop skills in power-sharing and collaboration.

REGISTER FOR MODULE 4 HERE

OBJECTIVES

- Define Article 13 of the CRC and discuss the connection between Article 13 and youth advocacy
- Analyze successful case studies of youth-led human rights advocacy initiatives around the world
- Explore the concept of child participation as a principle of the CRC and its implications for youth human rights advocacy
- Develop strategies for engagement, consultation, and collaboration with young people in decision-making processes

Session Facilitators

Co-Sponsored By

