Training As Action Series
2026-2027

Module 4: Mutual Aid and Creative Resistance

Monday, November 9th at 7 pm ET

Jenny Groen

Mary Anne Quiroz

Kyle Zingler

SUMMARY

This session will explore the role of mutual aid across a variety of settings and within diverse communities. Facilitators will explore best practices in providing community assistance through different mutual aid projects. Participants will come away with ideas and strategies for how they can work with and develop mutual aid efforts in their own communities, as well as how they might implement new strategies within their own organizations. Participants will also learn about how different communities have responded to immigration enforcement operations to support their community members.

OBJECTIVES

- Participants will learn about the methods and mechanisms of providing mutual aid given complex, challenging issues that face local communities.
- Strategieze on how to engage the wider community outside of your organization in your aid efforts.
- Understand how to work across organizations
- Learn how to get involved with and start your own mutual aid efforts
- Learn tactics for quickly shifting existing aid models in the face of emergencies

REGISTER FOR MODULE 4 tinyurl.com/taas-2026-27-m4

Co-sponsored by

HRE USA
Human Rights Educators USA
A network dedicated to building a culture of human rights