Module 5: Advocating for Asylees and Shifting Immigration Policy

Monday, November 30 at 7 pm ET

Training As Action Series
2026-2027

SUMMARY

This session will explore the most pressing issues related to human rights, immigration, and asylum seeking. Kimberly Gauderman, an expert witness in asylum cases, and Rebecca Kitson, an immigration lawyer, will share their extensive knowledge on the changing landscape of working with immigration and asylum cases. They will share how they have seen their work evolve in recent years and also share how all of us can assist with ensuring dignity as immigrants navigate legal processes.

OBJECTIVES

- Understand the various ways that immigrants can seek legal status in the U.S.
- Learn about the implications of rapid changes to immigration law.
- Understand outcomes related to shifting immigration policy and third country deportations.
- Learn about how to advocate for dignified immigration processes.
- Discuss how to best incorporate this knowledge into educational and advocacy spaces.
